

The University of Bonn is an international research university offering a broad range of subjects. With a 200-year history, some 31,500 students, more than 6,000 employees and an outstanding reputation in Germany and abroad, the University of Bonn is one of the leading universities in Germany and has been awarded the status of a University of Excellence.

The Bonn Center for Dependency and Slavery Studies (BCDSS) is looking to fill the following position with effect from 1 January 2027, on a fixed-term contract until 31 December 2032:

Research Group Leader for the Research Area C: Power – Violence – Trauma

The BCDSS, a German Research Council-funded “Cluster of Excellence”, offers excellent opportunities for interdisciplinary and comparative research of different forms of Strong Asymmetrical Dependencies (SADs) across time periods and world regions. During its first phase (2019–2025), the BCDSS successfully developed the concept of SAD as a comprehensive analytical framework to understand how power imbalances have been shaped in the past, and continue to influence, societies around the world today. In its second funding phase (2026–2032), the BCDSS will investigate the underlying causes and mechanisms that contribute to the persistence of SADs across historical and contemporary contexts. We aim to anchor Historically Informed Dependency Studies (HIDS) as a key interdisciplinary field in the humanities, encouraging scholars across the humanities and social sciences to systematically integrate the analysis of SADs into the study of social, economic, and cultural phenomena.

Our research focuses on five Research Areas:

- Transitions and Transformations of SADs,
- Economies of SADs,
- Power – Violence – Trauma,
- Cultural Heritage – Transitional Justice – Memory Cultures,
- Alternative Archives and Life Writing.

The successful candidate will lead a Research Group in the BCDSS’ Research Area C “Power – Violence – Trauma”, design and conduct independent projects in the field of Historically Informed Dependency Studies (HIDS) that closely relate to the Research Area’s research goals. Topics can be of a wide variety – from micro studies to wide scale approaches, in any historical period or geographical region. A Research Group at the BCDSS is an independent research unit led by an early-career researcher to pursue an original research agenda while supervising a small team of researchers. The successful candidate will recruit two doctoral researchers for the research group and collaborate closely with colleagues from the BCDSS, in particular the cluster professor for Trauma Studies/ History of Violence. Furthermore, the successful candidate will be part of the interdisciplinary and international research community.

Your tasks:

- Developing the research profile of the Research Group on the historical relationship between violence, trauma, and coercion within the field of Historically Informed Dependency Studies (HIDS),
- Recruiting and supervising two doctoral researchers,
- Providing academic leadership and strategic development of the Research Group and Research Area C,
- Conducting an independent research project leading to a second monograph or equivalent work,
- Developing innovative theoretical and methodological approaches to analyse SAD,
- Organizing and contributing to international workshops, seminars, and conferences,
- Building national and international research networks.

- Your profile:
- At least three years of postdoctoral experience and an excellent academic track record in one or more of the following fields: the history of violence, trauma studies, historical psychology (excluding the history of psychoanalysis), or a related discipline represented at the BCDSS (e.g. Anthropology, Archaeology, Art History, History, Law, Regional Studies, Sociology, or Theology),
 - Publications relevant to the BCDSS research agenda in general and Research Area C in particular,
 - Native or near-native proficiency in English,
 - A strong interest in advancing research on HIDS from a comparative and interdisciplinary perspective,
 - Demonstrated ability to develop innovative research questions and engage with methodological and epistemological challenges,
 - Experience in collaborative and interdisciplinary research.
- We offer:
- The opportunity to establish and lead an independent Research Group, including the recruitment and supervision of two doctoral researchers,
 - Membership in the interdisciplinary and international research environment of the Bonn Center for Dependency and Slavery Studies (BCDSS),
 - An open, collaborative, and innovative research culture that encourages interdisciplinary exchange,
 - Mentoring by two senior professors and comprehensive opportunities for professional and leadership development,
 - Excellent institutional support for independent research, career development, families, and equal opportunities,
 - Many options available for university sports,
 - Excellent access by public transport thanks to Bonn's central location as well as the opportunity to take advantage of low-cost parking,
 - Flexible working hours and the ability to work from home,
 - Remuneration in accordance with TV-L pay grade 14.
- Your application needs to include:
- Cover letter stating your motivation to work at the BCDSS (max. 1800 characters including spaces),
 - Curriculum Vitae,
 - A copy of your PhD certificate,
 - An outline of the proposed Research Group (max. 10.000 characters including spaces). Please include information on:
 - Key research questions and hypotheses;
 - originality of the proposed project vis-à-vis existing scholarship and key publications in the field (with bibliography),
 - alignment of the project with the BCDSS' research goals in general,
 - relevance of the project to Research Area C in particular and, if applicable, cross-connections to other Research Areas,
 - concise ideas for two PhD projects,
 - The name and contact of two referees (position, professional address, and e-mail).

The University of Bonn promotes an open, respectful, and non-discriminatory academic culture and is actively committed to equal opportunity and family friendliness. We aim to eliminate structural disadvantages and to strengthen diversity in research, teaching, and administration. Therefore, we welcome all applications, regardless of ethnic or social background, gender, sexual orientation, religion or belief, disability, or age.

Applications from women and people with a documented severe disability (or equivalent status) will be given preferential consideration in accordance with the State Equality Act (LGG) NRW and Social Code (SGB) IX.

If you are interested in this position, please send your complete application to application@dependency.uni-bonn.de by September 15, 2026, quoting reference 2026/387. For technical reasons, applications may only be submitted by email as a single PDF file. Please do not hesitate to contact BCDSS Managing Director Jeannine Bischoff (dependency@uni-bonn.de) if you need any more information.