

Joseph C. Miller Memorial Lecture Series

---

Dan-el Padilla Peralta is Associate Professor of Classics at Princeton University, where he is associated with the Department of African American Studies and affiliated with the Programs in Latino Studies and Latin American Studies and the University Center for Human Values. He is the author of Undocumented: A Dominican Boy's Odyssey from a Homeless Shelter to the Ivy League (Penguin 2015) and Divine Institutions: Religions and Community in the Middle Roman Republic (Princeton University Press 2020); and he has co-edited Rome, Empire of Plunder: The Dynamics of Cultural Appropriation (Cambridge University Press 2017). Projects now in the works include an edited volume on new approaches to the Middle Roman Republic (co-edited with Seth Bernard and Lisa Mignone; in production with Cambridge University Press), a study of 338 BCE and the origins of Roman imperialism (co-authored with Denis Feeney; under contract with Harvard University Press), A People's History of Rome (under contract with Princeton University Press), and a manifesto on race and racism in the disciplinary identity of Classics (co-authored with Sasha-Mae Eccleston).